"THE COIN MACHINE MERRY-GO-ROUND"

BY BILL GERSH

19 MILLION BOND BUYERS

The Treasury Department reveals that there are 19,000,000 persons buying War Bonds on the 10% payroll deduction plan. This tremendously impressive figure gives coinmen some idea of what a future this industry has in front of it. And so has every other industry - when the war is over. The money that these 19 million are now saving will no doubt go into new cars, homes, refrigerators, etc., etc., and a few may even become investors in coin machines, when their war industry jobs are finished.

STOCKS GO UP

Partly because of the Russian resistance to the invading Nazis, according to New York Stock Market experts, last week's financial markets, both for stocks and bonds, advanced with some rapidity. On Thursday, September 24th, trading in stocks was the largest for the year. Steel production tended upward, too, the general output remained unchanged at 98% of capacity. In general, all business experienced a spurt. Coinmen reported collections extremely good.

BANK DEPOSITS UP

Some weeks ago this column reported that bank deposits were going up. This meant that the general public were saving more and still more money. This past week the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation revealed that on June 30 deposits in the 13,399 insured commercial banks amounted to over 71 BILLIONS OF DOLLARS. This was 8% more than a year ago.

FREIGHT LOADINGS

Week ending September 19th showed loadings of revenue freight to be 903,099 cars. This was 88,214 cars more than the previous week but about 4,870 cars less than for the same period a year ago. Freight deliveries have become a problem for coinmen. Anticipate your needs as far in advance as possible. Don't be caught short with nothing on locations and machines in transit. Belief is that freight will continue to roll better as more and more rationed merchandise goes off the market.

U. S. WAR COSTS

The Revolutionary War cost about $9,000.00 per hour. The Civil War $30,000.00 per hour. World War I about $2,250,000.00 per hour. World War II is costing better than $18,000,000.00 per hour. That gives you some idea why you should be buying and buying and buying War Bonds and Stamps at every opportunity. And also paying off your customers in War Bonds and Stamps wherever and whenever possible.

WAR WORKERS

The demand for relaxation among the war industries workers is extremely interesting to coinmen and proves a point long advanced. The average war worker rushes off to the nearest big town for the weekend and usually blows in his hard earned dollars. Such cities as New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Detroit, and many, many others thruout the country, are getting a terrific play from these people loaded down with war work dollars. The same is true of coingames located in the communities the war workers patronize.

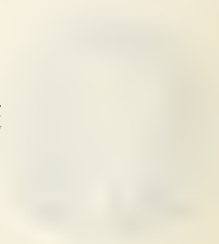

DEMAND GROWS

Demand for almost every type of coindevice is growing every day. This has upped prices all along the line. The fact is that quietly, and without any ballyhoo, much territory has opened. Prices for all types of equipment have gone up. (Check this fact in The Confidential Price Lists.) Prices will continue to go up as machines get more scarce. The "saving factor" is that as gas rationing spreads all over the country more ops (aside from those who have already done so in the Eastern ration states) will concentrate their routes and pull in machines from outlying sections. This will tend to halt the price advance at a certain level and may even bring prices of some machines down.

TAKE A TRIP

One of the very best methods to learn just what is going on in your territory (and in your industry) these days - is to take a trip. We've been on the road constantly for more than 5 weeks now and have been surprised at the large numbers of coinmen, who formerly made it their business to travel about, who haven't moved out of their offices in many, many months. There's a lot of new action going on around the country. But, you'll never see it or hear of it sitting at your desk.

MUSICAL DOLLARS

From everywhere in the country subscribers report that music is making money. The music machine industry is now accepted as the backbone of the coin machines industry. Demand for music routes and music equipment is at the highest level in history.

WOMEN WORKERS PLAY

A few issues ago we recommended that you start paying more attention to women players. We recalled how the tobacco companies pushed forth an intensive campaign to gain more women smokers - and their success is most apparent. The fact is that more and more women are now earning money and that these will more than take the place of male players of your machines if you cater to them correctly. Over 50,000 women per week are quitting homes and going to work. A nationwide registration of women for war work isn't more than 6 months off. By the end of the year 1 out of every 4 women (between 18 and 45) will be working. This means there will be one woman for every two men employed. More than 2,100,000 women went to work in war industries last year. By the end of this year there will be more than 4,500,000 of them working. At least another 1,500,000 will be needed in '43. There are now a total of 14,300,000 women gainfully employed in all sorts of jobs. This figure is expected to go over 18,000,000 by the end of '43. And remember that a fair percentage of these will seek the economical relaxation of coin equipment. Use your own judgment.

PREDICTION

We predict that the coin machines industry will find, because of its growing popularity, and also because more and more straight gambling equipment is being placed, that it will be faced with some harsh crusading from many political elements and also from some outside elements who will want to turn heat away from themselves. The anti-gambling crusade against the bookies now being carried on by Mayor LaGuardia of New York City is but one faint indication. This will spread. Other politicians will want to gain just as much publicity. But, we also predict that regardless of the amount of crusading action, that the public will continue to patronize coingames more and more. We base this prediction on the fact that all types of entertainments have zoomed to highest prices (even local movie houses have upped admissions) and because the average man and woman, enduring a definite set of war nerves these days, want economical coingames amusement for relaxation. The public, plus the retailers (who need this additional income to maintain their businesses) are going to keep coingames going. In short, we predict that this industry is in for even a greater play era than it has yet enjoyed.

GAS RATION "C" BOOKS

For some issues now we have been telling you the complete story of gas rationing. In the last issue of The Cash Box we condensed all this into one item. Here is something that is worth your attention. If you can truthfully state that you require transportation for "repair and maintenance" of non-portable equipment you are entitled to a "C" card. Remember - "non-portable".

STORE SALES UP

It is well known to leaders in this industry that the best barometer for coingame action is to watch retail store sales. When these go up - play goes up, too. This past week saw a 5% sales increase thruout the nation. The volume for the past four weeks was an increase of over 8%. Here's what leading cities showed: Boston up 4%; New York down 3%; Philadelphia up 6%; Cleveland up 5%; Richmond up 13%; Atlanta up 6%; Chicago up 6%; St. Louis up 3%; Kansas City up 15%; Dallas up 12%; San Francisco up 11%.

THAT PETRILLO BUSINESS

The only thing that can be further said on this subject (which has been appearing quite regularly in almost each issue of The Cash Box) is to continue watching the case in Chicago before Federal Judge Barnes. With the sentiment of the public what it is and with the strong case being presented by the Department of Justice there is no doubt that records will once again be made for phonos. But, beware of some surprise monkey wrenches being thrown into this case by "Little Ceasar" Petrillo who has won before from Government. We believe that this time he walked into a tougher opponent than even his shrewd brain will be able to beat.

OUR HAT'S OFF

In the past few weeks we've received some letters wherein we had something of fear for the future. Some of our good friends fear that pretty soon there just won't be any coin machines in the industry. In the meantime, of course, they're going right ahead enjoying bigger and better collections (from the kind of equipment they like to run) than they ever did before in their lives. And, since so few are fatalists, and this doesn't seem to be the place for a discussion about fatalism, let's use a fearless, fighting group of coinmen — to point an example to our few, fearful friends. The British coin machine operator — who is going ahead — who has had the hell blitzed out of him — who has seen his place of business burned down by Nazi incendiary bombs — who has seen expensive equipment blown to bits — who is, regardless of all such discouragement (and believe me you that this is really discouragement) going ahead at top speed. He still features ads in his favorite publication — quoting prices on the machines he has left to sell — buying what he can — and operating wherever he can. And, according to a report in one leading newspaper (none other than the very conservative New York Times, which paper long ago refused to take ads featuring pinballs) the American soldier who rubbernecks around London — who gets a big thrill playing the pinballs he finds there — because they remind him so much of home" — according to his Times correspondent. Yes, sir, fellas, our hat's off to the British coin machine operator — he's proving that this industry can go thru a blitz and still go on and on and on, ad infinitum — AND SO CAN YOU!!
